Key Takeaways

- Mark Zuckerberg won a gold medal in a Brazilian ju jitsu competition, which is amazing because he took a chance and tried to get good at something and then competed in it.
- Tom Hardy was able to convincingly portray different characters in movies, such as the clumsy character in the Venom movie who was affected by an alien. This is impressive because it is difficult to pull off acting with CGI and creating a believable character in that situation.
- Being a blue belt in jiu-jitsu means that a person has reached a level where they know how to submit people. However, there are various levels of skill and smoothness in executing submissions at this level.
- Mark Zuckerberg competing in jiu-jitsu is amazing because he is one of the richest people on earth and he didn't have to do anything, but he took a chance, tried to get good at it, and went on to compete. This shows his commitment and willingness to delve into new experiences.
- Going for it and committing to something is important because it allows individuals to overcome their fear of failure and take risks. This willingness to try new things and pursue goals can contribute to success and personal growth.
